

London Mint Cake

London Pound Cake x Kushmintis x Pure afghani

All rise! Hear ye! Hear ye! Please welcome London Mint Cake, the latest member of the T.H. Seeds™ Royal Family. With parents such as Cookies' London Pound Cake and SeedJunky's Kush Mintis, London Mint Cake can be considered a royal amongst royals. London Mint Cake is a pleasure to look at, very colorful with dense, Big Ben sized buds covered in bell-shaped trichome heads. London Mint Cake does not have a giant stretch factor, but she can get really wide like a Christmas tree with a lot of branches with good internode spacing and leaf to bud ratio. She can easily be cloned, topped and multi topped, but we prefer to just let her grow to see her natural expression. Easy to grow for beginners and experts, she has amazing resistance to powdery mildew and mold, even with her giant flowers full of resin. London Mint Cake from T.H. Seeds™ tastes like she smells: pancakes with berries and syrup along with some minty undertones. Easy to trim, perfect for hash making and all other types of extraction. Better to dry 14-16 days slowly in 18-20 degrees to get the best out of the terpenes. Grow like a Royal with London Mint Cake from T.H. Seeds™.

SPECIFICATIONS

2-seeds

6-seeds

FEMINIZED

- TYPE
65% Sativa - 35% Indica
- HEIGHT
120cm - 170cm
- TASTE
Berry&Syrup Pancakes|Minty
- YIELD
550-700 g.p.s.m.
- FLOWER
8 - 9 weeks

London Mint Cake is a pleasure to look at, very colorful with dense, Big Ben sized buds covered in bell-shaped trichome heads.

London Mint Cake

London Mint Cake from a happy customer

London Mint test by SANlight